Paintings Owned by Francois Adam and Ehrichs and Feffercorn's Objects and Furniture Are on View

The large collection of paintings jointly belonging to Francois Adam, of Alberta, Canada, and to the Ehrichs Galleries, of this city, which is shortly to be offered at auction at the Anderson Galleries, is now on exhibition there. In addition there is the complete collection of furniture and art objects from the antiquarian establishment of Adam and Ehrichs. The two collections make up a most valuable and newly renovated gallery of the Park Avenue institution.

The paintings, of which 135 specimens are shown, depict various phases in portraiture, landscape and still life of the European schools from the sixteenth century to the present. Those belonging to the Ehrichs Gallery run from the sixteenth century to the present. Mr. Adam, on the other hand, collected many diverse specimens, including a large crucifixion, listed as a Van Dyck; an animated and dramatic portrait of a man from the school of the same, and a particularly representative group by the modern Belgian painter, Armand Jamar. The trend of subject in the thirty-two works of Adam is toward the quiet home life scenes of the continental peasantry.

The main gallery is dominated by a large group by Sir Godfrey Kneller, his "Abraham, Stanyan and Family." A similarly resounding note is struck by the over-sized portrait group of Thomas Phillips, and by that of J. M. W. Turner, which reflects the vulgarity of a well-to-do middle class Flemish family at home.

The large variety of portraits include the colorful "Mrs. Pritchard," of the school of Reynolds; the Countess of Strafford, a fine little "Portrait of a Man" of the early Italian school, attributed to Franciabigio, and Kneller's "Portrait of a Lady."

Certainly, the collection makes no special play upon objects or their style. It is a multifarious assemblage, predominating in chairs, tables and cabinets of various European periods and influences. The Jacobean, Queen Anne, Sheraton and Adam character is manifested in great variety. A Charles II needlework armchair, a Chippendale walnut sideboard, a William and Mary cabinet, an inlaid Heppelwhite sideboard, a massive Jacobean table ten feet long, and two seventeenth century chairs showing a peculiarly strong Dutch influence are notable.

Many other tables, chests and cabinets are in the style of the early Italian or Spanish—some heavily ornate, and others of a more restrained style. This is characteristic of a group of small tables, French chairs and lacquered cabinets and richly framed mirrors add splendor to the assemblage. The collection also numbers tapestries, decorative paintings, textiles and rugs. A set of seventeenth century walnut pews from an Italian church will also be offered. The sale is set for November 8 to 11, inclusive.

To Wed in California

Miss Sara M. Cunningham To Be Married Next Month

13 Heroes Who Gave Lives Get Carnegie Honors

Dependents of Eight Granted Pensions; Silver and Bronze Medals Awarded for 33 Brave Deeds

Four New Yorkers in List

Fund Commission at Fall Meeting Also Makes Educational Awards of $11,200

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 3.—Thirteen persons who lost their lives in performing heroic deeds were honored by the Carnegie Hero Fund Commission at its fall meeting here today. Thirty-three acts of heroism were recognized by the commission, which awarded silver medals in four cases and bronze medals in twenty-nine cases. The dependents of eight of the heroes who sacrificed their lives were granted pensions aggregating $6,780 a year, while in four similar cases, $2,500 was awarded.

One hero who was disabled was given $1,500 and benefits of $20 a month. In seven cases awards aggregating $11,200 were appropriated for educational and other purposes, while in eleven instances the commission awarded aggregating $9,000 were approved for other worthy purposes.

The heroes who gave their lives in efforts to save others follow:
H. H. Boyce, of College Heights, Springfield, Ark., died attempting to save a man from drowning at Alma, Ark., June 12, 1919.

John H. Eden, 532 Hamilton Avenue, North Bergen, N. J., died while rescuing a child in a skiff wrecked, Leeds, N. Y., July 3, 1921.

Elijah Runnels, negro, 5509 East Side Avenue, Dallas, Tex., died while saving a woman from drowning at Perry, Tex., August 5, 1921.

Frank B. Bence, 997 Hunt Street, Akron, Ohio, drowned while attempting to rescue a boy at Akron, June 6, 1921.

William J. Harrington, 6 Pacific Street, Butte, Mont., died attempting to save a miner from drowning at Butte, Mont., August 8, 1920.

William V. Nevin, 169 East Center Street, Butte, Mont., died attempting to save a miner from drowning at Butte, Mont., August 8, 1920.

David M. Hamler, Box 52, Seal Beach, Calif., assistant city engineer, drowned while attempting to save a man at Anaheim Landing, Calif., September 22, 1921.

James C. Nutt, Balsam Lake Club, Hardenburg, N. Y., a laborer, died attempting to save a girl from drowning at East Branch, N. Y., July 14, 1922.

William J. Stanford, 6 East Seventh Street, San Angelo, Tex., died attempting to save a girl from drowning at San Angelo, July 4, 1922.

George H. M. Herchenrother, 3802 Federal Avenue, Baltimore, Md., died attempting to rescue a man from drowning at Baltimore, May 10, 1922.

Edmund J. Kates, 1923 R Street, University Place, N. C., died attempting to save a man from drowning at Wrightsville Beach, N. C., June 8, 1921.

Marguerite A. Fitch, 1012 East Thirty-fourth Street, Savannah, a stenographer, died attempting to rescue a man from drowning at St. Simon Island, Ga., May 30, 1922.

George Howard Donaldson, 1205 Spring Street, Seattle, Wash., died in a Van Dyck; an animated and dramatic portrait of a man from the school of the same, and a particularly representative group by the modern Belgian painter, Armand Jamar. The trend of subject in the thirty-two works of Adam is toward the quiet home life scenes of the continental peasantry.

Eight Liners With Winter Tourists Are Sailing To-day

Oropesa Making Last Trip From New York and Is to Go in Royal Mail's South American Service

With many tourists departing for the southern climes of Europe and foreign lands, eight trans-Atlantic liners will sail from New York today. The vessels are the Olympic of the White Star Line, for Cherbourg and Southampton; the United States liner President Fillmore, for Plymouth, Cherbourg and Bremen; the White Star liner Cedric, for Liverpool; the Rotterdam of the Holland America Line, for Rotterdam; the Cunard liner Coronia, for Liverpool; the Red Star liner Lapland, for Antwerp; the Anchor liner Cameronia, for Liverpool; and the Oropesa, of the Royal Mail Steam Packet Company, for Hamburg.

The Oropesa is making the last trip from New York for the Royal Mail and upon her arrival in Europe will enter the Liverpool-South America run. She will be the largest vessel to be operated regularly through the Panama Canal. Her withdrawal from the New York service is the result of the advent of two new ships, the Orea and the Ohio, which will soon augment the fleet of that line running between this port and Hamburg.

The Olympic, which will sail at 10 o'clock this morning from her pier, foot of West Eighteenth Street, will have among her passengers the Hon. Francis Burke Roche, Lady Alan Johnston, who was Antiochene Pinchot, and who has been in this country visiting her brother, Gifford Pinchot, now running for Governor of Pennsylvania, and Mrs. Pinchot; Dr. E. L. Gros, head of the American Hospital in Paris; the Hon. and Mrs. Edgar N. Knox, Curtis Brown, Henry W. Allen, general manager of the Marconi Company in Great Britain; Cecil Hepworth, British motion picture producer; Lieutenant C. W. Bailey, Colonel A. H. Carter, Lieutenant Colonel and Mrs. A. Hamilton Gault, of Montreal; J. W. Spalding, chairman of A. G. Spalding & Bros.; Baron B. Wullerstorff, Baroness Gault, London manager for Guggenheim Bros.; Dr. C. O. Mailoux, James R. Scott, secretary of the American Embassy in London; Rudolph Iselin and B. Perley, of Toronto; Mrs. James W. Benning, Mrs. Percival Moses, Dr. and Mrs. M. L. King and Mr. and Mrs. Wentworth Bacon.

Among the passengers sailing on the Cedric are twelve missionaries who are going to Bombay under the auspices of the Methodist Board of Missions, O. D. Interborough, Wallace Fleming, P. O. Reed, Dr. Simpson, Dr. J. M. G. Winfield S. Hoyt, Mrs. and Mrs. J. W. Shriver, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Sudders and Mr. and Mrs. James H. Thom.

On the Lapland will be Norman Dunlop and Mrs. H. H. Hart, who are en route to the diamond fields of South Africa; Mrs. Frederick F. Womham, Dudley Donald, Mr. and Mrs. L. D. White and Mr. and Mrs. J. P. McCann.

W. Corcoran, American Vice-Consul in Bologna, is sailing on the Rotterdam. Others on the ship will be Professor H. J. Hamburger, Dr. and Mrs. Frank E. Simpson, George A. Adler and family, Mr. and Mrs. J. V. Glavin, Mr. and Mrs. Smith H. McKim, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Miles, Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Lawler, R. M. Lippincott and R. P. Lane.

Arthur I. Blau, for several years an agnostic in the Department of Health, who is going to Berlin and Vienna for extensive research work. A committee of Dr. Blau's friends and associates in the medical profession will be at the Hoboken pier to bid him farewell.

Charles R. Martin Buried
TIFFIN, Ohio, Nov. 3.—Unmarked by a single flower, Charles R. Martin, sixty-six years old, for twenty-five years a national figure in the labor movement and with Eugene V. Debs founder of the Socialist Democratic party, was buried here today. He died yesterday. Mr. Martin was national secretary of the Knights of Labor and when that organization broke up he turned to Socialism. For the last decade he had lived here in obscurity.

Prince of Wales Sprains Ankle
LONDON, Nov. 3 (By The Associated Press).—The Prince of Wales to-day met with a mishap when he fell from his horse on a slippery road, slightly spraining an ankle. A medical examination showed no injury beyond a swelling, which will prevent him from wearing boots for a couple of days.

Association Gets $25,000
The first payment of $25,000 was made to the Woman's Roosevelt Memorial Association yesterday on the $150,000 gift for the completion of Roosevelt House on East Twentieth Street, pledged by the Roosevelt Memorial Association.

A representative of the Roosevelt Memorial Association gave the check to Mrs. A. Barton Hepburn, treasurer of the Woman's Roosevelt Memorial Association, in Presbyterian Hospital, where Mrs. Hepburn is recovering from the effects of a slight accident.

Roosevelt House is to be completed in the spring and will contain the museum and history of the Roosevelt Memorial Association. It also will be the headquarters of the Bureau of Roosevelt Research and the center of the Americanization activities of the Woman's Roosevelt Memorial Association.
